

Kids Love the Rhythm and Sound of the Music

Julie Burke of First Church of the Nazarene

Julie Burke understands how to keep a young audience entertained – it is in the sound and rhythm of the music. As Music Coordinator of Lewiston First Church of the Nazarene in Lewiston, ID, Julie has been a Lillenas customer for over four years and loves Lillenas' selection of children's musicals. Plus, more importantly they have proven to be very popular with her young performers.

"We perform a Lillenas Kids musical twice a year and the productions are always a big hit in the community," Julie said. "So many people look forward to our performances, including families that don't frequent our church. The musicals have become a great outreach tool - children come with their families simply for the entertainment the musicals provide."

By offering an array of kid's products, Lillenas makes it easy for music directors and children's pastors to find Biblically sound productions for their children's ministry that are also extremely entertaining. With musicals, puppet scripts, songbooks and even training DVD's, Lillenas provides children's leaders the tools they need to reach kids through music and drama either as performers or as members of the audience.

"We've used other companies for kid's products, but they just don't compare to Lillenas," Julie explained. "The kids learn the music so quickly and they have fun in the process. Plus, not only are Lillenas products great, I love the company's overall customer service. It's easy to find and order just the right merchandise whether I use their catalog or the website and I receive my shipment in only a couple of days."

As part of the Lillenas Publishing House, one of the largest Christian music and drama publishers in the world, Lillenas Kids is able to continually update its selection to insure customers always have a wide variety of the latest music and drama resources to choose from to grow their ministry.
